I am working on an SharePoint 2013 solution in a publishing site collection. I need to redirect user to a certain URL after clicking a hyperlink on a custom master page. I have a custom button on the page. The hyperlink is within the list of comments. The code is : I need to redirect to the URL within the hyperlink after clicking it (which is blahblah.com) but the User1 id becomes visible on the page and so it redirects to the homepage. How can I solve this issue? A: The UserID is displayed only when you provide it through the code. If you want to show the UserID only when you visit the page on the code side you could do something like this: and then in JavaScript: $("a c6a93da74d
